Confidence amid complexity

Today's legal leaders are operating in an environment defined by disruption, uncertainty, and heightened expectations - often with limited resources.

Featuring perspectives from leaders across the legal ecosystem and insights from our recent in-house counsel survey, this discussion examines how legal teams are evolving their operating models to balance growth, risk, and speed in an increasingly complex environment.

Live attendees will receive early access to our 2026 Global In-House Legal Insights Report, featuring practical insights and benchmarking data.

This panel will explore:

- What confident legal teams are doing differently in 2026
- How AI is shifting from aspiration to a core strategic capability
- How legal teams are navigating the dual mandate of mitigating risk while enabling revenue
- How law departments are anticipating and assessing emerging risks in complex regulatory environments
